Sparkling Wine

The amazing increase in the popularity of sparkling wines has taken the industry by storm. However, there is so much more verity waiting in the wings.

We are all familiar with Champagne, Cava, and Prosecco, but the rise of English Sparkling wine is set to challenge the market further.

With the trend continuing each venue is looking to create an experience when a customer orders either by the bottle or glass. The classic coupe and saucer are back in vogue and there is high demand for elegant taller flutes that make a statement.

Like wine the shape of the glass is also important, so it often is worth taking sometime to consider. Are you offering a playful easy drinking Prosecco or a more considered Champagne where a fuller flute, closer to a wine glass, would benefit the beverage.

As the trend grows we are also being asked more and more for a suitable decanter for sparkling wine, which we are delighted to be able to provide and which is detailed in the following pages.

Cabernet

Effortless, visual stunning and beautiful to hold, these are all key words that describe this elegant Champagne Coupe. Taking its cue from the cocktail bars of yesteryear the soft lines flow from the bowl down the stem to the foot, effortless and pure. 'Effervescence Plus' also ensures that the bubbles Continue to sparkle long after the drink has been Poured.

Reveal Up

To bring a sense of theatre the Reveal 'Up Fresh tumbler is a 2 part concept designed to keep your sparkling wine chilled for longer. The concept consists of a cooling base that is chilled in the freezer prior to serving. The Reveal 'Up Soft tumbler is then placed perfectly on the base creating a true talking point.

Macaron

Classic sparkling wine should be treated as white wine, therefore a fuller flute can assist in bringing out the complete range of flavors and aromas. The new Macaron flute (pictured to the right of the red wine glass) does this, it takes the classic fuller flute and adds a technical double chamber that brings all of that personality to the fore.
